A RT-PCR procedure and the reverse transcription-polymerase chain reaction (RT-PCR) method were used to examine the expression of the epidermal growth factor receptor (EGFR) in granulosa-luteal cells and follicles isolated from normal human ovaries. Granulosa-luteal cells expressed EGFR mRNA, and this mRNA was found to be upregulated following a single stimulation with 17 beta-estradiol, hCG, dibutyryl cAMP, or forskolin. Granulosa-luteal cells expressed EGFR protein as well as EGFR mRNA and this expression was upregulated by 17 beta-estradiol, hCG, and dibutyryl cAMP. Granulosa-luteal cells expressed the EGFR in the presence or absence of cAMP-dependent phosphorylation of the receptor. Indirect immunofluorescence experiments demonstrated that human granulosa-luteal cells expressed EGFR, and this expression was enhanced by the addition of 17 beta-estradiol and hCG. The intensity of staining was greatest with the combination of 17 beta-estradiol and hCG. Other incubation media did not appreciably enhance the staining.
