red's name is a reference to the red bird, which, in turn, is named after the legendary mythological hero from aeschylus' prometheus bound play. red's character design has the background for his red feathers mainly because they gave him the color of a pop-art shade of orange, but also because the color red (as well as yellow) is a symbol of wisdom and strength for many chinese people. when red and the rest of the birds are enjoying their vacation, they are drawn to a movie about a bird that visits the moon. the bird, his name is piggie, is eager to return to the earth and finds all the animals on the moon friendly. all of red's family members are either part of the royal family of bird island or have strong affection for him. his mother is queen thorn, who is the rightful ruler of bird island and the mentor of all of red's family members. red's father and many of his uncles are the 12 bird lords, who governed the red flock until chuck was crowned king. red's elder half-brother was a prince until one day when he was kidnapped by zeta as an infant and was left at a goose farm with other children with the intention of making them like zeta. however, he was rescued by a flock of birds, who returned him to his foster mother and eventually to red. his brother blu is the crown prince of bird island, who came to live with the red flock when he was a young child after the 12 lords were killed and their crowns taken by zeta, and he is one of red's closest friends. red's younger half-brother phineas

is a less gentle yellow bird, and was the result of a relationship between his mother and one of the 12 bird lords. despite being older than phineas, red took care of him like a mother. phineas is shown to have a strong fear of heights, and this led to red to teach him to fly.
